Recruit Staffing provides services for the Recruit Group's HR business segment, focusing primarily on staffing services. For companies, we match individuals who are looking for work opportunities with companies that want their staffing needs to be met promptly and appropriately. For individuals, we offer stable and secure work environments, career development support that makes it possible for them to work based on their preferred work style, and suitable jobs that fit each individual's respective stage of life. For companies, we offer HR and staffing advice that is aligned with the company's business strategy. Since our founding, our business philosophy has been to contribute to society through the creation of employment opportunities. As a

"Workstyle Maker" and under the mission of creating a world that has as many work styles as individual senses of identity, we will continue to drive the evolution of work styles in order to continue to promote diverse working styles both within and beyond the company. Now and in the future, we at Recruit Staffing are focused on serving as a partner that supports the growth of individuals and businesses alike.
